Today's Liturgy

Opening Prayer:

Liturgist: Paul speaks at the end of his life about completing his race.
All: The race of life isn't a sprint, or even a marathon. It's more of a relay race, complete with hurdles to jump.

Liturgist: Some racers are with us throughout the entirety of our race, while others only run with us a little while.

All: Whether for a brief time, or all around the track of life, we give thanks to those who have joined in the race as we strive for the finish line.

Liturgist: In the relay, the key is taking the baton and then passing it off to another.

All: Our pastoral baton is being passed, but it doesn't mean the baton of discipleship gets dropped or changed. The goal is still the same, even when the runner changes.

Liturgist: Let us pray,
Sovereign of the church, we pray to you as we transition from Pastor Patrick to Pastor Rodgers. There's anxiety, grief, and loss in the change of pastors as well as the hope of new beginnings and renewed zest for ministry. Help us in this time of transition to reaffirm our commitment to you, and our purpose to reflect Christ in Colby and beyond in this time and forevermore. We pray this in the name of the one who calls and sends us into the mission field, Jesus Christ.

All: Amen.
